Dr Annie Weir, Director
Impact Research

Dr Annie Weir has been appointed Director Impact Research. Dr Weir holds a PhD in Education from Victoria University of Wellington. Dr Weir has experience working with Maori and Pasifika, the public sector, industry and business, health and education sectors. She has extensive experience in working in senior management in education in New Zealand.

She recently returned from Scotland where she held the post of Research Fellow at the Centre for Educational Sociology and was also Healthcare Management Research Fellow with the Business School at the University of Edinburgh where she was part of a number of projects related to the interface between health and higher education. In addition she has worked on a large European project focused on knowledge in relation to education and health policies.

Dr Weir is an Associate of the Centre for Educational Sociology at the University of Edinburgh and recently accepted an appointment as an Honorary Academic with the School of Critical Studies in Education, Faculty of Education, at the University of Auckland. Her research interests include: quality assurance and programme evaluation; the interface between higher education and health systems; international comparative studies in higher education; critique of qualification frameworks and knowledge exchange in higher education.

Impact Research NZ is a not-for-profit research centre that conducts high quality research within the New Zealand social services, community, health and education sectors which aims to make a positive difference for families and communities.

For more information Contact:

Tracey Evington
Communications & Marketing Manager
Impact Research
Level 3, 404 Khyber Pass Road
Newmarket, Auckland 1023
P: 09 520 8622
M: 027 210 8616
E: tracey.evington@psn.org.nz
W: www.impactresearch.org.nz